

WE NOMINATE

Whitney Jennings Oates, 58-year old scholar-teacher and a full-time Princetonian for some 35 years, whose vision and far-ranging influence in American higher education were dramatically documented with this week's announcement of The Ford Foundation's grant of $27.5 million to the Princeton-headquartered Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation. This king-size grant, $3 million above the grant that brought the Wilson Fellowship Foundation into being in 1957, will extend through 1967-68 what has been rightfully described as the "largest and most successful recruiting campaign in the history of American education."

The conception of a nation-wide talent search for prospective college teachers, that now teaches out of every college and university campus in this country, originated with Oates even before he had completed his World War II hitch with the Marines. Many educators sensed the increasingly serious shortage of qualified teachers, but no concerted effort was being made to interest returning war veterans in the possibilities offered by the profession of scholarship and teaching. Consequently, in the summer of 1915, as the newly appointed Chairman of Princeton University's Department of Classics, Oates with missionary-like fervor began his search for young men of promise whom he could "save" for teaching.

With the help of Hugh Stott Taylor, then Dean of Princeton's Graduate School and now president of the Wilson Fellowship Foundation, Oates corralled enough funds for four first-year graduate fellowships. The number of Wilson Fellows climbed gradually in the late 1940's and in the 1950's, with support from the American Association of Universities, the Carnegie Corporation, the General Education Board and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Foundation, the pioneering program was finally established as a "national institution."

Oates, however, was not satisfied and realized that an even greater effort was essential if the estimated future needs for college teachers were to be met.

Supported by several close associates, including Robert Francis Goheen, one of the four original Wilson Fellows in 1915, Oates began probing for financial resources far in excess of what had been available in the founding decade and discovered a sympathetic interest in The Ford Foundation. In the Spring of 1957, following a protracted series of conferences with officials of Ford's Fund for the Advancement of Education, the groundwork for the present organization was completed. Ford came up with the grant of $21.5 million—with the stipulation that this sum was to be used over a five-year span to intensify the recruiting of college teachers and to provide 1,000 fellowships per year.

Oates, younger brother of James F. Oates, president of The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States and general chairman of Princeton University's recently successful $53 million campaign, possesses the rare capacity for "thinking big," an attribute Madison Avenue seldom links with humanistic scholarship. A member of the Princeton Faculty since 1927 and one of the five newly named Senior Fellows of the Center of Hellenic Studies in Washington, he was the driving force in the founding in 1953 of the University's Council of the Humanities, which has shouldered the responsibility for sponsoring and coordinating the first systematic evaluation ever made of the state of American scholarship in the humanities.

For cultivating the seed-corn out of which has grown a program enabling thousands of high-talent college seniors to move forward into graduate study; for constantly seeking to strengthen the humanities so that they can "function as they should in the life of the nation"; he returns to TOWN TOPICS' cover as

MALE FACES CHARGE

In Possible Test Case. A politically-spawned charge that former mayor Raymond F.
Male violated the Hatch Act
by campaigning for Gov.
Hughes and by running for re-election last fall may result in a test case of the 23-year old federal law.

Mr. Male, whose new term as state labor commissioner has been delayed by the Senate Judiciary Committee, has until this Friday to answer charges brought by the United States Civil Service commission that he stands in violation of the Hatch Act. The complaint grew out of campaign oratory made by Republicans during the Hughes-Mitchell governmental race last fall.

Specifically, the complaint cites two speeches made by Mr. Male in Gov. Hughes' behalf, one on October 5 to the Somerset Young Democrats in Somerville and one on October 14 before a convention of the Independent Unions of New Jersey at Atlantic City.

"I am convinced that I have not violated the Hatch Act," Mr. Male states, announcing that he will make a vigorous defense.

To Appeal If Necessary. After
he has filed his answer, the Civil Service Commission will schedule a hearing. "Mr. Male will be allowed counsel if the commission decides that he did violate the act, the state must either discharge him, or order the loss of $40,000 in Federal funds—double Mr.
Male's salary at the time of the violation."

Mr. Male indicated that, if the decision is not in his favor, he will appeal to the U. S.
District Court "and on up," if necessary.

The Commission contends that Mr. Male is covered by the Hatch Act because the state labor "department" is partially supported by Federal funds; however, Mr. Male states that all of his $20,000 annual salary is paid by the state.

Before I took the job of labor commissioner in 1959," Mr. Male said, "I checked with the United States Department of Labor to see whether the position was subject to the Hatch Act and they said that it was not."

The charge against Mr. Male was originally made to the Commission by Alfred C.
Clapp, campaign manager for James P. Mitchell, Republican candidate for governor who was defeated by Gov. Hughes in November.

Mr. Clapp, in a letter to H.
John Macy, chairman of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, complained only of the speeches and did not protest Mr.
Male's campaign for mayor of Princeton.

Definition of Hatch Act. The Hatch Act was passed by Congress in 1939 to relieve Civil Service employees of political pressures, and specifies that no officer or employee of a state or local agency whose principal duties are financed in part or whole by Federal funds, shall take active part in political campaigns.

Mr. Male points out that today, nearly every city, county and state department has some Federal money, perhaps for

MAN IN THE NEWS: Raymond F. Male's alleged violation of the Hatch Act may be made a test case of the federal law.

research, if nothing else, and that the act, if applied strictly would mean that almost everybody in a government job would be subject to its provisions.

"An official in a policy-making post must be allowed to defend the record of his administration," Mr. Male believes.
"Everybody knows that a state cabinet post is a political office."
"A cabinet officer holds his job at the pleasure of the governor and can be fired by him at any time. It is, therefore, his duty and his job to defend the administration. But how can he defend it if the Hatch Act is going to be applied like this?"

Commenting on the Male case, James Watson, 31 Scott Lane, executive director of the National Civil Service League,
a citizens' organization concerned with the integrity of civil service, said:

"People should understand that the charge against Mr.
Male is a technical interpretation of the Hatch Act. It probably goes farther than either Congress or the civil service reform movement ever intended, and perhaps it will become a test case which will stimulate the feeling that the act should be modified."

Interpreted in such a way,
Mr. Watson said the act makes an "unnecessary restriction on state and local political activities."

"There is certainly no mystery about the activities of Ray Male," Mr. Watson said. "It would be most unfortunate if this charge were interpreted to mean that Mr. Male is guilty of some gross wrong-doing."

Mr. Male's long-delayed nomination as labor commissioner for another term moved a major step toward reality while the Hatch Act violation was being debated. Held up since January in the Senate Judiciary Committee, its final release came at a conference between Gov. Hughes and Sido L. Ridolfi, State Senator

"LET'S MAKE A WEDGE"
An Oasis In Urban Sea — "We can, if we want to, make this area between Trenton and New Brunswick an oasis in the sea of urbanization that is engulfing the east coast from Boston to Washington."

With these words, Dr. Marion Gross, president of Rutgers, suggested to a regional resources conference held here last week that the people of central New Jersey drive a wedge into the urban sprawl along the east coast, and launch a program called "New Jersey Wedge."

Paul Van Wegen, president of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, sponsor of the conference, proposed an inventory of water resources, geology, flood plain and so on as the first step to ward development of a regional plan.

Dr. Gross said that once such an inventory was made, the cities, counties and industries of the area, working with state officials in cooperative endeavor could drive a "wedge" threatening to engulf us. About 125 representatives of local, state and federal government groups, industries and civic organizations attended the conference.

Jacob D. Beam, native Princetonian whose boyhood years were spent at 52 Bayard Lane and now one of this nation's foremost career diplomats, who is expected to be named this spring by President Kennedy to the keystone post in U.S. foreign policy — Ambassador to the Soviet Union — A member of the University's Class of 1929, a Foreign Service officer since 1931 and fluent in six languages, Mr. Beam was described this week in Washington dispatches as an ideal representative for our country in Moscow, "scholarly in appearance, reserved in manner and tough-minded in negotiation."

Marioza Trifan, Lillie Street, Princeton Junction, 12-year old girl whose appearance Saturday with the Philadelphia Orchestra was termed by one critic as "a mature, thoroughly Mozartean performance, complete with rippling scale passages, warm accents and a rounded, mellow tone." Simultaneously, 10-year old Daniel Trifan was named winner of the Philadelphia Orchestra's composition contest, will orchestrate his winning entry for performance by the Philadelphia's next fall.

ROUND-UP
More than a dozen brush fires broke out in this area last week, only one of them serious — that destroyed some 300 acres of grassland Saturday near the Western Electric buildings on Carter Road. Companies from Hopewell Township, Princeton, Lawrenceville, Pennington, Rocky Hill, Blawenburg and the Neuro-psychiatric Institute battled the blazing countryside for seven hours, with a wind that topped 30 miles an hour in gusts making the task fatiguing.

Our Navy friend told us about an atomic clock (atomic frequency standard) which has proven to be accurate to less than one second in 300 years. It is possible, they say, that among other valuable uses, this development may enable a test of Einstein's general theory (that time, as we know it on earth, is changed by the earth's gravitational effects in space. They could match two atomic time pieces to the fraction of a second, leave one on earth, and zoom the other into space, then check the orbiting clock against its twin on earth. They weigh from 20 to 55 pounds, and by comparison, man's first mechanical clock, developed about 600 years ago, was accurate to within two hours a year, and was operated by gravity pulling down a 500 pound weight. Quite a contrast, the first with the latest, eh? Today you want only the most modern things and services in life, but you also want old fashioned scruples to be practiced by those who serve you. May we prove to you that we fill the bill? Thank you in advance for the opportunity! Kammer Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206 opposite the Princeton Airport WA 1-2222

What had happened was a totally unseasonable drought which began March 21 and lasted ten days, leaving the dead leaves and grass of the winter dry as tinder. The rains returned Saturday night, and before the skies dried Sunday, 2.38 inches of rain fell. The normal supply for half the month—had fallen. March had a temperature range of 70 degrees about as wide a fluctuation as New Jersey records, from a low of 10 on the 3rd, 4th and 5th, the thermometer gradually climbed until it reached 80 on Friday. ### SENATORS WILL SPEAK

On Sunday, Senators Clifford Case of New Jersey and John Sparkman of Alabama will discuss "The Future of American Democratic Institutions" at the concluding session of "Response" Sunday afternoon. It will be the culmination of the three-day forum on "The Changing Face of American Democracy."

"Response" is a student-conceived, non-partisan, weekend forum held annually at Princeton University. It fosters direct contact with the policy-makers of the nation through speeches, panels, dinners and seminars in an effort to go beyond the academic environment. It involves members of the Princeton community, as well as students, and undergraduates from many universities.

In addition to the scheduled speeches, there will be informal discussion groups on Saturday at the undergraduate eating clubs. This, according to Gregory Guraff, chairman of "Response," will give an opportunity to "all students and Princeton residents a unique chance to question directly the makers of policy in American society."

At the banquet on Saturday night, Mayor Henry S. Patterson will be the speaker, and entertainment will be provided by the Nassosons and the Triangle Juniors.

Registrations can be made at the door or by calling WA 1-6959. A fee of $3 is charged for non-students in addition to the $3 cost of the Saturday banquet. For a complete schedule, see "Calendar of the Week," page 11.

ORDINANCE PASSED

By Board of Health. An ordinance reducing the length of time required for soil percolation tests was passed with opposition Thursday night by the Township Board of Health.

The purpose of the ordinance is to restrict further building in the northern part of the Township where there has been trouble with malfunctioning septic tank systems because of the impenetrable rock underlying the area.

Health officials had expected strong opposition to the measure from property owners and real estate agents, but none was apparent at the brief hearing.

Dr. William Kleinberg, chairman of the Board, said that if property owners so desired, they could submit engineering plans for septic systems even if soil percolation tests had failed, and that the Board would consider each presentation on its own merits.

Marcella Farley, acting health officer, told the Board that, over the last three years, there had been properties that could not comply even with the old percolation requirements, and only eight that could. She also said that, on a recent one-day tour of the Township during the period of excessive rains when sewers were overflowing, she and a state health official found 15 malfunctioning septic systems.

She told the Board that the state official was surprised at the situation in the Township and had, by letter, ordered the Board to take measures to solve the problem.

Dr. Kleinberg said that, in response to requests from Township residents, the Board had subjected samples of Princeton soil to ultra-violet absorption studies and had found that the wells in the Stony Brook area were almost as free of organic matter as distilled water, and that the wells in the Harrison Street field and the processed canal water were bacteriologically pure, but not so pure as water in the Stony Brook field.

The application of Severio Mangone to construct a car wash on Route 206, a request that has been before several Township bodies, was brought before the Board of Health. Frank Quibby, engineer retained by Mr. Mangone, said that detergent overflow from the car-wash would not go into

Gradually milder weather is due for the next 48 hours, but nothing much above the high 50's. And look out—those rainy weekends that so often plague worshippers of spring may be on the way again. Rain is a possibility for Saturday,
the Man reports.

Cromwell, a member of the U. S. Navy, was given a 30 day suspended sentence to the Mercer County Workhouse.
The others were placed on probation for one year. One condition of the probation set forth by Magistrate Tams is that each must not operate a motor vehicle for one year.

In traffic court, Edward L.
Thomas, 25, 421 Alexander Street, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving. He was fined $20. Edmund Arnesen, 40, Griggstown, was fined $15 for a late inspection of license.

KILLS WIFE, SELF

In Kingston, Edward K.
Hingher, 55, of 81 Laurel Avenue, Kingston, killed his wife and then committed suicide.

State Police reported last week. The bodies of Hingher and his 57-year-old wife, Elizabeth, were found by their daughter Linda, 19, on Friday morning.

Dr. D. T. Russo, Somerset
County physician, said that Mr.
Hingher used a .25-caliber rifle to put a bullet through his wife's head as she slept. He then put a second shot through his own head in the couple's first-floor bedroom.

The couple's son, Owen Hingher, 23, was at work for Industrial Reactor Laboratories in Plainsboro when the bodies were found. Miss Hing-her is employed by the First National Bank of Princeton.

Mr. Hingher worked for the Borden Company in Metuchen
as a wholesale milk route driver. Detective Robert Fisher and Trooper Steve Boschia of the Princeton Station conduced the investigation.

SIX DOGS BITE

Children, Mailman: Two Bor-

hand by an unidentified dog Wednesday morning at Riverside School. On Thursday, Robert Craig, 13, 188 Witherspoon Street, was bitten on the leg by a dog owned by Mrs. Dorothy Skipwith, 19 Lytle Street.

Charles Billie, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Billie, 284 Mt. Lucas Road, was bitten under the left eye on Friday by a cocker spaniel be-

News Of The THEATRES

JONSON WORK LAST
Of McCarter Series. Ben Janson's "The Alchemist" will be the last offering of McCarter's spring series of late Elizabethan plays. Three performances will be given this weekend: Friday and Saturday evenings, and a Sunday matinee at 3.

Stephen Porter, who directed "King Lear" and "Twelfth Night" a year ago, will handle the same duties for "The Alchemist." He has produced, designed and directed the off-Broadway revivals of "The Country Wife" and "The Merchant of Venice," and "Dark of the Moon" last year in Milwaukee.

The play, described as one of the most perfectly plotted comedies in the English theatre, exposes both cheaters and their dupes in intricate plotting and intrigues. Emory Battis will take a leading role, following his performances in "Misalliance" off-Broadway.

Abstract paintings by Paul Alelyunas, a writer and artist from Burlington County, are on display upstairs at McCarter. His mammoth canvases are painted from midnight to 3 a.m., and the artist suggests viewers "bring nothing but their vision at the moment of looking in, if you seek resemblances, you won't find the painting."

12 COMING WITH CAROL
They Like Blondes. Twelve Gentlemen Who Prefer Blondes will descend on McCarter Theatre Thursday, April 12, with Carol Channing. Broadway comedienne and musical comedy star, who achieved fame in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" some years, but not too many—ago.

For her McCarter appearance, Miss Channing will do hit songs from her various shows, including "I'm Just a Little Girl from Little Rock," "Love is a Sickening," and "Diamonds Are a Girl's Best Friend."

"PESTLE" BURNS BRIGHT
And Bawdy, Too. Under the guidance of Milton Lyon, the McCarter Theatre Company's production last weekend of "The Knight of the Burning Pestle" turned out to be a fast-paced, bawdy show, full of life and fun. Comic lines and situations tumbled upon each other so rapidly that the audience had to work hard to keep up—and loved every minute of it.

Making such an entertaining evening of this Beaumont and Fletcher opus is no mean feat. Viewers as a satire on the plays and playwrights of Shakespeare's day, "Knight" could easily seem very dull to today's audiences. There is no plot as such, and there are no characters with whom an audience can identify.

Mr. Lyon overcame these obstacles by heightening the effect of every comic line and by devising comic business wherever the lines failed to carry the humor. The exaggerated interpretations of the actors in the "play within a play" were particularly effective.

"Knight" tells the story of a grocer and his wife attending a play in London in 1610. As the play is about to begin, the man jumps up on the stage and, with the aid of a few shillings, persuades the actors to write in a part about a grocer. The grocer's apprentice, Ralph, stars in the part, while the grocer and his wife sit at the edge of the stage, making comments and continually interrupting.

Smug But Charming. David Byrd and his wife, Anne Ger, were entirely convincing as the naive grocer and his wife. Smug and self-satisfied, they carried on their interruptions.

News Of The Theatres

with such complete lack of self-consciousness that the audience followed their every move with delight, eagerly anticipating their next gaucheerie.

The attractive Miss Gee was especially good. Thanks partly to her innate charm, she was able to be intrusive and interfering and still seem innocent and appealing.

The part of Ralph, the apprentice, is a difficult one to play, for Ralph is a stupid country bumpkin but he is at the center of the stage so much that he has to be entertaining. Philip Minor did an excellent job here, managing to appear ignorant and meaty-mouthed while at the same time getting his lines across effectively. He also demonstrated a fine sense of timing which brought out all the humor in the ridiculous situations.

The rest of the cast portrayed the actors in the "play within a play," and they did a marvellous job of over-acting just enough to provide the needed contrast with the grocer and his wife.

Heffernan Outstanding. Particularly outstanding was John Heffernan as I erybought, an irrepressible old lecher who could have been repulsive but who came across as just plain funny. Others rating special mention were Jo Wilder as the beautiful, mischievous Luce, Alan Nixon as her lover, Jasper, and Al Corbin and Mary Hooley as Humphrey and Michael, two of the worst books ever seen on any stage. Judith Ann Frank made a brief, show-stopping appearance as Princess Pampoune who looked more like a belly-dancer than any princess ever should. Adding greatly to the fun were two young boys, Steven Kraft as the certain boy and David Kempton as the dignified dwarf.

YES, I SAW THE EASTER BUNNY: Young Karen Balkin has disturbing news for her teachers, Miriam Hopkins, Shirley MacLaine and Audrey Hepburn, in a scene from William Wyler's "The Children's Hour." James Garner is co-starred in the adult drama continuing through Tuesday at the Playhouse.

The decor and costumes by William D. Roberts were exceptionally good. The scene signs for the "play within a play" were colorful and effective and the staging, which included an "audience" on stage, was imaginative and made good use of Hugh Hardy's setting.

All in all, it was a rip-roaring, rollicking show, and one only regretted that it was limited to three performances.

"KING'S MEN" HERE. In Players' Production. There may be people around here who are too young to remember Huey Long, but the story of corruption and change and political chicanery that is told in "All the King's Men" is universal enough to be valid even if the Kingfish had never lived. Robert Penn Warren's adaptation of his own Pulitzer-winning novel was given last week in Murray Theatre by Princeton Community Players as their spring production and it was an earned, well-earned, competent offering.

Using a single set built only of blocks on varying levels, Edward Earle directed a cast who played a drama hampered by its own clumsy storytelling machinery. He managed, however, to smooth out most of the rough places that were not of his making to begin with, and to present a unified surmise.

"King's Men" is concerned with Willie Stark, a southern back-country lick, honest and naive to begin with, but inflamed and corrupted by the political bosses who use his honesty and naivete to their own advantage.

The best scene in the Players' production is the one at the end of the first act when Stark, having been told that he is only a dupe, turns on his bosses and, his buried political talents suddenly erupting, delivers his first rabble-rousing speech and announces to the crowd that he will come back next time, defeat the bosses and be elected governor.

He keeps his promise, and the remainder of the play is devoted to the tensions between his cynical use of men and women to gain his ends and butting his power, and his apparently genuine desire to help the poor country people who were once his own.

Garrison Ellis does a fine job in the role of Stark, arousing first sympathy and then revulsion, and sometimes as the play progresses, a combination of both. It is a credit to Mr. Ellis that he is able to create a dimensional human, a stocky and lumbering individual who actually looks a but like Huey Long, not merely the conventional villain of a black melodrama. And "King's Men" skids perilously close to melodrama too many times: "I am your FATHER" one character announces, toward the end "He was my son and you killed him!" another says. And so it goes.)

Martha Faley, a Players newcomer, is also good as Sadie Kovac, Stark's nasal-pitched sharpie from the other side of town, and Mike Hayward, another new face to Princeton theatricals, is commendable as Jack Burden, the newspaperman who leaves journalism to follow The Boss, Willie Stark.

The chief burden "King's Men" carries is—

IT'S NEW To Us

FURS FOR SPRING
Or, Store for Fall. When daffodils bloom and the air-conditioners start to hum, a woman begins to think about buying a little fur and storing away the great big fur that was fine for snowflake and blizzard, but is a little too much for spring.
Women with these twin problems of purchase and solved admirably in a New Brunswick fur shop called Knauer's, at 5 Livingston Avenue, an address about midway between George Street and the Arnold Constable store.
(Knauer's has been around for over 30 years, by the way, and that's a lot of mink.)

At the moment, the shop likes to show its customers bubble capes and brief jackets and graceful boas, all of them designed with warmer weather in mind. The bubble capes are turtleneck, cerulean or ranch mink, just to name a few, fashioned with a blouse effect in back and with a collar, sometimes long and shawl-like, sometimes crisp and to the point. Sleeves are rather like cape sleeves, with a flowing fullness.

Our favorite jacket is a sheared muskrat the color of heavy cream and the texture of deeply piled velvet. There is a collar of thick brown mink. This particular jacket is approximately hip-length, but others are shapely little boleros, and still others are in between the short and the long of it.

Bring in your old fur, of course, for repair, designing and remodeling. If you like the Knauer designers will work from a picture you might have saved from a magazine or they will make, in fur, a cloth coat design you are particularly fond of.

Storage is an important aspect of the fur situation right now, and Knauer has, on the Livingston Street premises, a cavernous vault, kept at 32 degrees and equipped with every deodorizing and moth-proofing and fur-pampering device known to the industry.

You can leave your winter coat here all summer and find it healthy in the fall. (There is a fur-cleaning service, too, as you probably guessed.) You can also leave a stole or jacket for storage and take it out every now and then if you know you're going to be caught in extensive air-conditioning—an unusual and convenient service for summer time.

Knauer's delivers and picks up without charge in Princeton, by the way. The number to call is CH 7-2010.

TUN FROM MAAS
Eggs, Strictly Fresh. We counted 12 different kinds of eggs in the candy case at Lou-

A Bo for Me
Disdaining the mink stole, which has become almost a common, my dear, as DENIM, (for goodness' sake, we have decided on a mink boa for Easter.
The ones we saw at Knauer's in New Brunswick are understated, restrained and absolutely flawless in style and color. They are about 30 inches long with velvet loops and hidden clips in the ends which make them adaptable to almost any whim you have and any weather that Easter brings.
For example, you can wear one low on the shoulders as a looping scarf or higher as a necklace. Wrap it as an ascot, or tie it about to make a turban for your hair. (Let the conformists wear flowered hats.)
Knauer has boas for $27.50 in any of those curiously named shades of mink that breeders think up. No trouble at all to find one (or two, at that price!) to match a suit.

ise Maas' the other day: jelly one (pink); jelly covered with candy dots; cream-filled robin; cream-filled pheasant; malted milk. Etc. or up to 12.

This does not include the pullet-size Italian biscuit egg, pink, yellow, grey or white, which you nibble before attaining the prize you've been bearing as it rattles around inside. French eggs, same size, are more realistic, being off-white and tan without a prize.

Perutina, the Italian firm, packs the eggs into a basket, surrounding a complacent foil-wrapped chocolate hen. $4.23.

Small bunnies will want one of those wearable straw hats filled with candy. Mother will settle for the Rosemarie de Paris flowerpot filled with chocolates and supporting a large violet orchid (almost real).

Sister will like Wallace's box of Easter candies because it's more grown-up than a nest of eggs: foil-wrapped jellies, a chocolate-mint egg, crystal-line ducklings and so on. Great-aunt, who is allergic, will allow you to buy the peccan egg without any chocolate in it.

For an Easter table, Louise Maas has daffodil, tulip or calla lily candles, each about two inches high. There is also a felt egg-holder in green, with a resplendent cockerel on top sporting a golden comb and cerise feathers. Its mate is a matronly hen with felt bonnet.

Home-dyed eggs may also be cradled on back of a spe-

MUSIC In Princeton

VIOLS TO PERFORM
16-17th Century Music. The English Consort of Viols will present a program of music from the 16th and 17th centuries this Saturday at 8:30 in Tractor Hall of the Graduate College.

The program is presented by the Friends of Music at Princeton and is, like all Friends' concerts, open to the public without charge.

The program will consist of Fantasies and other pieces for four, five and six viols by John Jenkins, Richard Deering, Matthew Locke and other Jacobean composers, and two Fantasies by Henry Purcell.

All consort viols are made with six instead of the usual four strings, and are held between the knees for playing. The fingerboard is fretted like that of a guitar or lute, and the strings are kept at a lower tension than those of a violin, resulting in less volume but a cleaner, more transparent texture.

NGERIAN TO BE HEARD
Composer's Works Scheduled. Compositions by Fela Sowande, Nigerian composer now studying in Princeton with Bowser Sessions, will be played at the African Symphony program to be given next Monday at 8:30 in Carnegie Hall, New York, by the African Cultural Group. Among the artists participating in the concert will be members of the New York

A CONSORT OF VIOLS: Six viol players, specializing in the varied repertory written for the viol during the 16th and 17th centuries, will appear in concert at the Graduate College Sunday. Members of the English Consort of Viols are making their first appearance in the United States this season.

Philharmonic under guest conductor Pedro Sanjuan.

One of Africa's leading composers, Mr. Sowande was commissioned to write a festival composition celebrating Nigerian Independence Day. Many of his works have been published and performed in England and he has been cited by Queen Elizabeth for "distinguished service in the cause of music."

A Fellow of the Royal College of Organists, he has given several organ recitals featuring his own works in New York, Washington, Boston and Chicago.

Mr. Sowande has also devoted much time to the study of Nigerian folk music and to recording it in the field. Folk themes figure prominently in many of his compositions. Tickets, from $3.50, are available at the YWCA, the University Store and from Mrs. Rex Gorlegh, WA 4-4825, as well as at the Carnegie Hall box office.

SOPRANO TO SING

At Lawrenceville, Jan. 1, Harasany, soprano, will give the first concert on the Allan V. Healy Foundation this Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Lawrenceville School, North Wing, Lavino Field House. There is no admission charge.

The young Princeton soprano has appeared frequently with many of the country's leading orchestras, having made her debut with Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra in 1958. Since her debut, she has appeared 17 times with the orchestra under Mr. Ormandy. She also sang with the Philadelphia at the May Festival, Ann Arbor, under Elton Johnson. In addition, she has sung with the Symphony of the Air under Leopold Stokowski.

STUDENTS TO PLAY
In Piano Recital. Pupils of Irina Lauritz Holt will give a piano recital Saturday at 3:30 in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road.

Those who will perform are: Dianne Ponsi, Sharon Bube, Kenneth Bube, Isabelle Cause, Hilary Martin, Lisa Holt, Alvin Chin, Barbara Brown, Mary-Louise Buckland, Rita Sherman and Sigrid Sittig.

Several parents will accompany their children in duets. They are Mrs. Harry Ponsi, Mrs. Richard Bube, Jean-Pierre Cause, John R. Martin.

Time for Oscar

This is the season to forecast the winners of the Motion Picture Academy Awards, to be presented on Monday, so here are TOWN TOPICS' selections of the "best" of 1961.

Best picture: "West Side Story." Rarely has a movie deserved the awards this one does. Best actor: Paul Newman as "Fast Eddie" in "The Hustler." Best actress: Sophia Loren as the Italian peasant moulher in "Two Women."

Best supporting actor: George Chakiris as Bernardo in "West Side Story" (although Jackie Gleason may win). Best supporting actress: Rita Moreno as Anita in "West Side Story." Best song: Henry Mancini's haunting "Moon River" from "Breakfast at Tiffany's."

dance forms studied during the winter, including a Greek dance and two creative dances on modern themes.

The recital will be given at Aparri's new studio, 217 Nassau St. Invitations may be obtained by calling the school or Miss Milla Gibbons, director of Aparri.

OLATUNJI TO COME

With Dr. Mrs. Danco. Authentic Africa in rhythms and dances, including the stirring Watusi dances, will be presented by the Nigerian drummer, Olatunji, and his company of 14 dancers and drummers when they come to Alexander Hall on Friday, April 27 at 8.

Olatunji is appearing for the benefit of the Princeton chapter of the Pan-African Student Organization of the Americas. Tickets, at $2.50, may be obtained by writing Henry Bozimo, 1915 H. H. Princeton University, enclosing a check made out to Princeton Chapter, PASOA, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

THE GARDEN

A View from the Bridge April 4-10 is another international film version of Arthur Miller's stage play, recalling the French film of "The Crucible" a few years ago. It makes one wonder, in passing, why Hollywood chooses to ignore our American authors of stature and leave their interpretations to the Europeans.

In any event, Miller's story is a brooding drama of a Brooklyn longshoreman who has brought up his wife's niece from a child to a young woman. His paternal feelings toward Catherine have changed into a physical obsession to possess the girl. The picture concerns his action when she falls in love with an immigrant who is illegally in the United States.

Raf Vallone, last seen here in "Two Women," carries the acting load as Eddie Carbone, the longshoreman. He makes Eddie both man and animal, a person to be both loved and despised, in a performance of remarkable depth and character. Carol Lawrence, in her first dramatic role after the Broadway lead in "West Side Story," is also impressive as Catherine.

Miller was attempting to follow Greek tragedy in the construction, character and sustained power of the play. He doesn't achieve his goal completely, but nevertheless leaves a raw, powerful and realistic drama of a man's self-destruction. Director Sidney Lumet has added no trappings to the starkness of the play. Comment: brutal, brooding drama.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Children's Hour April 4-10. With the relaxation of Production Code Association rules about portraying sexual aberration on the screen, director William Wyler has re-made his 1936 picture "These Three" into a modern-day drama dealing with lesbianism and slander. The picture turns on a 12-year-old girl's lie about the "unnatural relations" of two of her teachers.

BOSTON SYMPHONY HERE
Directed by Munch. On Tuesday evening at McCarter Theatre, the final concert in Series I of the Princeton University concerts presented the Boston Symphony Orchestra, under the leadership of its retiring Music Director, Charles Munch. For his farewell series of concerts, Mr. Munch's presentation of the symphonies of his repertoire: Berlioz' "Symphonie Fantastique," Debussy's "La Mer," and the Suite from Ravel's ballet "Daphnis et Chloé," was the program on Tuesday evening, although in truth this was Mr. Munch's first Princeton appearance as well as his last.

There was, in some quarters, unhappiness about the conventional nature of the program; under the circumstances, however, it would seem Mr. Munch's privilege to play his own favorite music on his farewell tour, and anyone acquainted with the performances of the Boston Symphony in recent years would be hard put to suggest music which they now play any more satisfactorily (only the Saint-Saëns Organ Symphony springs to mind, and that is hardly practicable for touring).

The difference between performances of Boston "specialties" in Koussevitzky's later years and those which we heard on Tuesday night are rather marked. In both cases, the mannerisms were more noticeable as time passed, but whereas with Koussevitzky they were accompanied by (and, in part, stemmed from) a polishing and refining of all details of performance, with Mr. Munch they are related to a general lack of precision and of attention to details of execution.

A good example of this was the exaggerated statement of the "lute fine" in the first movement of the Berlioz, especially as contrasted with its return later in the same movement.

ment. One would suppose, from the orchestration, that Berlioz intended the recapitulation to be more agitated than the first statement, but the opposite resulted from Mr. Munch's failure to control the expressive inflections of the first statement. Only in the final two movements of this work did the orchestral playing reach the standards one associates with a major orchestra, the winds being especially at fault in matters of intonation.

This same difficulty marred the opening of the "Daphnis et Chloé" Suite, where a tacky clarinet maneuver to stick out a lecture, in a passage where major musical point would seem to depend upon its blend and polish. In addition, the middle portion of this piece, whose form derives from the scenario rather than from the more "musical" ideas present in the end movements, tends to lose its point if all the orchestral tricks do not come off with dazzling effect.

"La Mer," because of its musical substance is better equipped to withstand such difficulties, suffice it to say that the interpretation was of the overworked variety. Perhaps symptomatic was the presence, in the buildup before the last statement of the third theme in the last movement, of the motive in the brass which Debussy removed from the score very soon after its premiere, more than 50 years ago. It is hard to believe that never of this emendation has not yet reached Boston (in point of fact, Koussevitzky knew about it at least 20 years ago, but its inclusion was entirely in keeping with Mr. Munch's approach to the score).

roy Hepburn turn in good form as the maligned headmistress, especially the latter. Excellent supporting efforts are turned in by James Garner, as the fiancée of Miss Hepburn, and Fay Bainter, an Academy-Award nominee as the youngster's grandmother. The child, Karen Balkin, however shows her coaching painfully.

Here we have a delicate theme, but one handled in the same old side way. Although lesbianism is the subject of the land, and the drama, it is never mentioned openly, but alluded to by double-edged dialogues and underhanded comments. The climactic suicide of one of the partners and its ambiguous aftermath not at all comment sometimes powerful, sometimes muddled adult drama.

Question 7 (April 11-17) is absorbing propaganda film made in Germany by an international cast. Produced by Lothar Wolff from an original screenplay by Aileen Sloane (the same team that collaborated on the award-winning "Marilyn Luther" in 1933), the picture has been winning acclaim from religious and political sources throughout the West.

The story tells of the pressures which act against a passion and his son in present-day East Germany. The son (Christian de Bresson) is a teenage boy who must fill out a Communist Party questionnaire in order to continue his piano studies. The seventh and most critical question, "What person has been your greatest influence?" leads the boy into a consideration of the best faith (political) leads the critical for the modern world.

The boy's simple problem of whether to lie and thus gain the chance for public recognition under the Party or to tell the truth is transformed into more meaningful questions of the best means of man's survival. The not-expect ending manages to come across effectively. Acting is at a high level in this competently-produced film. Comment: effective and moving propaganda for the West.

LAWRENCE CENTER SOLD
For Over $2,000,000. The 22-acre Lawrence Shopping Center, located on Route 1 and 2nd Avenue, has been sold to Mortimer L. Schultz of Plainfield and a group of New Jersey associates for over $2,000,000. It was purchased from the Also Corporation of New York City.

The actual purchase price would amount to $2,360,000. Mr. Schultz revealed, with $750,000 paid in cash and the remainder in a $1,610,000 mortgage due in 1976. It is the second center purchased by the group, which recently syndicated the purchase of the $1,000,000 Carter's Shopping Center.

Built over a year ago, The Lawrence Shopping Center contains 10 tenants who utilize over 145,000 square feet of selling space. It provides parking for 2500 cars and has 12 acres available for future development. Mr. Schultz reported.

ARSONIST CAUGHT

In West Windsor. A juvenile, apprehended over the weekend by the West Windsor police, has admitted to setting at least one fire in a rash of brush and house fires that has plagued the community in recent weeks.

One of the largest was a fire that raged Saturday in a field off North Post Road, spreading into the dry woods around ASumpkin Creek before it was finally extinguished. No homes are in the area.

MEETING SCHEDULED

For Teenage Republicans. Mrs. Regina Meredith will be guest speaker at the second meeting of the teenage Republicans to be held April 13 at 8 at the home of Miss Sally Schoch, Ridgeway Road.

By Allen

FOOT IN MOUTH Disease

"Do you make all of these arrangements right here in your shop," she inquired, referring to our display of "people watcher" arrangements.

"Yep," I said, always ready with a witty reply. "These colorful little birds with the real feathers, are they the 'people watchers' I've read so much about?" she queried.

"Yep," I ad libbed. "Looks like a little feeding scene, that little bird on that knarled root with the twigs and berries and all," she volunteered.

"Yep," I said helpfully. "Can these be packed and mailed? I'd love to send one to Aunt Martha in Oregon as a sort of native art you know."

"Sure," I replied helpfully. "Suddenly a child wand swept through the flower shop. 'You know, Mr. Allen, this is by far the prettiest flower shop I've ever seen. Your flowers are fresh and lovely, your merchandise is smart and your displays are breathtaking, but if there is one thing I can't stand, Mr. Allen, it's a high pressure salesman. I was going to buy one of these 'people watcher' things but you just talked yourself right out of a sale.'"

And that's the way it goes some days.

"Yep."

P.S. You can buy one of our weekend flower specials with practically no conversation at all. Just wave a dollar bill in our face and point to what you want. Four different specials this week.

Mrs. Meredith, who ran successfully for freeholder in the past election, will be seeking the office again in the November election. A short business session will follow and will include discussion of a June swim and picnic. Monthly dues of 50 cents will be collected.

JAYCEES PLAN BANQUET
For Lawrence Charter Night. The Lawrence Junior Chamber of Commerce has scheduled its charter night banquet for Saturday, April 21, at the Compass, Brunswick Pike. Dr. Robert Watson, state Jaycee president, will be the principal speaker.

James Price is banquet chairman, assisted by Melvin Rutledge, internal vice-president, and Cecil Barton, second director.

The following committee chairmen were appointed by James Crowley, Jaycee president, at the group's March meeting: William Egbert, nominating; John Bailey Jr., membership; Robert Harwood, profit making; Mr. Price, social house program; and David Pierson, community survey.

Sydney Souter was named local counsel.

The April meeting will be held Tuesday at 8 at the Hampshire House, Lawrenceville Road. Guests are invited to the dinner at 6:30.

SWIM LESSONS DEFERRED

For School Vacation. Free swimming lessons will be offered to youngsters during the spring vacation by the Princeton YM-YWCA. Instruction will be given in the Y's Olympic pool beginning April 13 and ending April 21.

Fully qualified YMCA and Red Cross water safety instructors will teach the classes for both complete beginners and those who can swim only 20 feet. Up to 125 children may be enrolled in the program. Registration may be made by mail or in person at the Y office until 10 p.m. Thursday, April 12.

Classes are to begin on April 13 with a period of orientation, a physical examination if the

The Learn-to-Swim program has been arranged by Mrs. Charlotte Christiansen, health and physical education leader of the YWCA. Walter Storz, assistant general secretary of the YMCA, and Donald L. Evans, assistant general manager of the Princeton Park, will be in charge of the program.

MEETING TUESDAY

Of Borough PTA. Mrs. Dorthea Lummis, principal of the Nassau Street School, and Mrs. Lyman Spitzer, chairman of the Parent Education Committee of the Borough Elementary School PTA, will be speakers at the PTA meeting to be held Tuesday evening at 8 in the auditorium of the Nassau School. "New Frontiers in Education" will be the subject of the meeting.

Several topics that have been under discussion throughout the year will be summarized and evaluated. These include enrichment programs, teaching machines, ungraded schools and team teaching. Mrs. Lummis will tell parents what the school is doing and plans to do in the future about these new educational concepts.

Also, officers for the 1962-63 PTA Board will be voted on. They include Mrs. D. B. Stevens, president; Mrs. Simon Hutter, first vice-president; W. E. Speers, second vice-president; Mrs. S. D. Atkins, recording secretary; Mrs. E. J. Durbin, corresponding secretary; Mr. and Mrs. S. Buckland, treasurers; and Mrs.

Patton, secretary. The meeting will be held Tuesday evening at 8 in the auditorium of the Nassau School.

JOHN HITE TO SPEAK

To Democratic Forum. "The Corporation and the Community" is the subject of a talk to be given next Thursday, April 12, by John Hite at the annual meeting of the Township Democratic Forum. Officers will be elected at this meeting, which will begin at 8:30.

Mr. Hite, director of Johnson and Johnson's institute of management in New Brunswick, is a candidate for Township Committee in November. William W. Marvel is the other Democratic candidate.

Donald G. Herzberg, forum chairman, commented that Mr. Hite "is particularly well suited to discuss the corporation and the community. His facts and observations place him in an excellent position to be familiar with the relationship which is not without relevance to the Princeton community."

ZONING BACKERS MEET

Will Form Corporation. Upwards of 80 residents of Princeton Township met Tuesday night at Township Hall to form the Princeton Committee on Zoning Enforcement. Plans were made to incorporate and to elect officers, with another meeting scheduled for later this month.

Petitions will be circulated by members of the committee which will seek essentially to retain status quo on current zoning policy within the municipality. It is the organization's contention that too many variances are being granted, and that more which threaten the residential nature of the Township are coming under consideration. Joseph E. Bacheider, 456 Riverside Drive, called Tuesday's meeting and presided during the evening.

KATZENBACH PROMOTED

To Deputy Attorney General. Former Princetonian Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, who has been serving as an assistant attorney general, was promoted this week by President Kennedy to deputy attorney general.

Mr. Katzenbach succeeds Byron R. White in the next to the highest post in the Justice Department. Mr. White was named last week as justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

A long-time resident of Princeton, Mr. Katzenbach was graduated from Princeton Country Day School and from Princeton University, where he was a member of the Class of 1943. He received his law degree in 1947 from Yale Law School and later studied at Oxford on a Rhodes Scholarship.

"APRIL ANNUAL"

To Benefit Institute. The eighth "April Annual" of the Association of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute will be held Tuesday, April 24, at Smalley Hall on the Institute grounds. Mrs. Kenneth Outerbridge and Mrs. Francis A. Comstock are serving as co-chairmen of the annual. The event will open at 10:30 with a bazaar featuring booths with baked goods, baskets and handbags, flowers and plants, "White Elephants," and the like.

At the Occupational Therapy table and the Hobby Shop booth, visitors may buy bird houses, needle-point articles and other items made by patients at the Institute. Proceeds from sales will be used to replenish supplies for Institute workshops.

After luncheon which will be served at 1:30, there will be a fashion show with commentary by Mrs. Robert Meyer and music by Mrs. Robert Strinsky.

The Association of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute is an organization of volunteers devoted to raising money for articles which are not provided for under the state budget. In the past, the group has bought and maintained over 30 television sets, some 200 Christmas gifts, Scout uniforms and an electric organ.

FASHION SHOW SET

In Lawrenceville. The ladies auxiliary of the Lawrenceville Fine Company will present a fashion show next Friday, April 13, at 8 in the main hall of the Frehouse. The Casual Shop in Hopewell is furnishing spring and summer clothes, and Barlow's of Trenton will supply music.

Mrs. John Maple is chairman of the show, with the following women serving as hosts of committees: Mrs. Leonard Venner, tickets and ushers; Mrs. Joseph Huber, refreshments; Mrs. George Duryea, wardrobe girls; Mrs. Maple and Mrs. Charles C. Hullfish Jr., program; and Mrs. Hullfish, publicity.

Models will be Betty Lou Allen, Ethel Cisey, Joan Hensler, Eleanor Hibbs, Mildred Kandrac, Sandra Long, Elsie Maple, Peggy Maple, Carol McCutcheon, Virginia Penrose, Ellen Stark, Marian Stout, Babs Taylor and Joan Vandermark. Tickets are available from any auxiliary member.

BUDGETEERS NAMED

For United Fund. Twenty-one residents of the Princeton area have been named to the Budget Committee of the United Community Fund, serving ing under Aubrey Hulton, Committee chairman. Members are George F. Adams, Max D. Blumfield, Carl Breuer, Frank Dooley, Jackson P. English, Fred Fields, Mrs. Leonard C. Johnson, Lawrence B. Johnston, Hans O. Kauffman, Mrs. Richard Lindabury and Miss Beatrice H. Milers.

Also Umberto J. Roberto, Mrs. Richard Schoch, Glen R. Simmons, Dilman M. K. Smith, Mrs. Harold Sprout, Ernest Steiger, Charles L. Taggart, Gilbert C. Turner, Mrs. Leslie C. Vivian and Carl E. Martin.

Budget hearings will start April 16 and will be held through mid-May.

A group of citizens from Middletown, New York, visited the Princeton United Fund headquarters last week to seek advice on establishing a fund in their own community.

They came because the United Community Funds and Councils of America suggested Princeton as the most successful medium-sized fund in both administration and fund-raising.

George Adriance, president of the Fund, served as discussion leader, with Robert F. Mooney, Borough clerk, representing the Mayor, J. P. Meyer, Mrs. Richard Schoch and William E. Coley, executive director of the Fund, also participated.

TEA SCHEDULED

By Latin Department. An illustrated talk on undersea archeology will be a feature of the 19th annual Latin Tea to be held next Wednesday at 3:30 in the auditorium of Princeton High School.

The speaker will be Lionel Casson of the department of classics, New York University, well-known as a classics teacher, translator and student of.

CHANGE SCOUT LEVELS

After 25 Years. Names for four age levels within the Girl Scout program will replace the three-level structure used since 1938 beginning in September of 1963. But already plans are under way to make the transition as smooth as possible in this area.

Groupings for Girl Scouts will become: Brownie Scouts,
7 and 8 years; Junior Girl
Scouts, 9, 10 and 11 years;
Cadette Scouts, 12, 13 and 14 years; and Senior Scouts, 15-17 years. The present pattern is Brownies, 7-9 years; Intermediate, 10-13 and Senior, 14-17.

Mrs. William H. Cherry,
president of the Princeton Girl Scout Council has appointed Mrs. John F. Brinster as Program Leadership Coordinator to supervise a large-scale effort to explain plans for the change. The Council's 130 adult volunteers must learn the details of the new program in the re-organization of troops.

Why No Debate?

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Everyone recognizes the need for full discussion of proposals for fallout shelters, because a decision on a fallout shelter program will affect the foreign as well as the domestic policies of the United States and other nations for the coming decade and more. The fallout shelter debate is therefore of vital interest not only to the voters of today, but also to the voters of tomorrow, today's high school students.

It is heartening to learn from the letter of Mr. David Peelman and the Editor's note appended to it, published in TOWN TOPICS of March 25, that the Princeton High School debating club has scheduled an assembly debate on fallout shelters. It is disheartening, on the other hand, that the debate has been postponed until after the Borough School Board has decided what to do about fallout shelters. In a free society the voter of tomorrow should be able to weigh the merits of a proposal before deciding and after discussion by the Board.

The Board and Superintendent Group should inform the readers of TOWN TOPICS why they asked the debating team to postpone debate.

To Build or Not to Build.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I have been informed that TOWN TOPICS for Feb. 11 to Feb. 17, contained an article in favor of the "fall out shelter" program.
I would like to read this. I got a building permit for a fallout shelter but have not ordered any materials as yet.

If you can supply me with the above back number of TOWN TOPICS, I will be much obliged.

I have delayed construction because of criticism of the fallout program from some sources.

Protect Princeton.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I read the article on the zoning problem in Princeton, and I thought I would send in this speech I wrote.

APARTMENTS ARE NOT FOR PRINCETON

I am sure we all love our town. Princeton, home-town of the famous Princeton University and of many fine citizens. Princeton is a really town and an excellent place for young people to grow up in. But, Princeton is not meant to be a city, but is meant to be the wonderful residential town that it is today. These apartments are such a silly idea. They just don't fit our town.

If we allow the apartment buildings to go up, something else will go up. Our taxes. Tax money can be spent in a more useful way than to buy, or build, things like schools that we would have to buy if these apartments go up. The whole thing is a waste of money.

If we disapprove of this, well, we ought to be able to stop it. Princeton is our town and we should protect it.

These people who wish to build these apartments are not Princetonians, but outsiders, who want to do things that we Princetonians object to! If we cannot persuade them to this case we do not deserve to be Princetonians.

If we all try hard enough and set our hearts on it, we can win over these outsiders and keep our fair town the way we want it.

NANCY T. FLAGG
Province Line Road

P.S. I am 12 and very interested in this zoning situation. I want to help as much as I can.

Wage Scale Above Minimum.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Your last issue carried a story on the current attempt by Local 741 of the Hotel, Motel, Bar, Restaurant and Cafeteria Employees Union to organize the staff of the University's Food Services Department. The item carried a quote by a union official stating that "low wages at the University" are a reason for these employees to organize.

The adequacy of a wage scale is, of course, a matter of opinion. Not a matter of opinion, but of fact, is the relationship between the University wage scale in Food Services, and those scales to be found in contracts currently written by this Local with employers in the Trenton-Princeton area. Our package of wage and benefits is not nearly matched in those contracts we have seen which apply to the majority of the members of this Local.

It is a matter of record that the University has, since taking over the feeding of its students in June, 1960, raised the minimum among its workers from 87 cents per hour plus meals to $1.20 per hour plus meals. (The New Jersey State minimum requirement for this occupation is currently 87 cents per hour plus meals.) In addition, we have made available to these employees the entire fringe benefit structure of the University, the equal of which would be difficult to find anywhere.

We are prepared to accept the verdict of our employees in the election to be held April 6, but we would hope that this decision might be Thoughts on Journalism.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

A newspaper owes its readers objective and complete reporting of events with opinions and interpretation restricted to editorial comment. Coverage of the Township Committee Meeting of March 19 dealing with the dog ordinance is one more example of poor reporting by TOWN TOPICS. Bullied down versions of some of the comments of those present joined by misleading headings do not make for complete and accurate reporting.

For example, "the other side" of the total restraint story was represented by Mr. Fisher and a number of others present NOT by the conjecture of Mayor Fairman on possible costs of total restraint. Under that same heading Mrs. Harrie was misquoted.

She and several others questioned the Township committee as to how they could come to the meeting with no information on the costs of either the ordinance under consideration or of total restraint. Such information was available from neighboring Lawrence and Montgomery Townships who already have total restraint. It was also brought out at the meeting that cost differences between the two ordinances should be negligible since the same dog catcher is involved working 8 hours a day. It was pointed out that costs would be reduced in time as the problem was alleviated.

The "story" failed to mention that the Committee presented the following facts at its meeting. The Township has over 1100 licensed dogs and over 600 complaints against dogs were made during the past year with 74 bites reported.

This does not mean the many complaints that went unvoiced for the sake of neighborly peace. These vital statistics, which together with a presently weak and unenforceable ordinance have brought on the pleas for a new and stronger, were completely omitted by the reporter.

How does TOWN TOPICS justify the supposition that "85 percent of the audience might well be anti-total restraint" in the future? This is opinion, not fact! Obviously the reporter must believe Mr. Fisher's ridiculous assertion of "Here's what an organized minority can do." The fact that this was not an organized group was brought out following that assertion, but was never reported.

What is "the other side"? Responsible dog owners are concerned about the welfare of their dogs as well as that of their neighbors. They restrict their dogs to their own property and exercise them under supervision.

A total restraint ordinance is needed because there are dog owners who don't care about their dogs or their neighbors. It doesn't concern them that their dog might be the victim or cause of an automobile accident, that their dog might annoy or even harm

Seram!

In a letter mailed this week to the 917 Township residents who own licensed dogs, Paul B. Diederich of 213 Snowden Lane, asks them to resist a total restraint dog ordinance because "it threatens our rights and liberties, the joys of childhood and the beauty of Princeton."

Mr. Diederich says in his letter that he has driven to work every day for 13 years over a route traveled by many school children and has yet to see a dog molest a child. He also states that he believes the Township police are fully capable of handling any legitimate complaint against a dog under the present statute.

"Have our Nervous Nellys never heard the command 'Beat it' or learned to box the ears or kick the slats of a dog who forgets his manners?" asks Mr. Diederich.

He concludes by saying that his family is reasonably hospitable to neighborhood dogs, but that, if a visitor should be misbehaving, "We open the door and say 'Seram!'" others and their property; or that their dog might become a neighborhood tramp instead of the loved and well-cared-for member of the family he should be. Surely Princeton is not destined to become a town run by dogs where children are not safe and even adults cannot walk on the streets.

VISITORS TO BE GUESTS
At Field Service Affair: Foreign students now studying in Princeton under the American Field Service will be guests at the spring reception of the Service to be held Sunday at 4 in the Senior Social Room, Princeton High School.

Stephen D. James of New York will discuss his "Hortages for Peace" plan. The four guests of honor will be Alfred Markwalder (from Switzerland; Arine Brussee, Holland; Lillemor Wernhamer, Sweden; and Iris Tab, Pakistan. Two Princeton students who spent time abroad under the AFS plan, Paula Cook and Mary Francis Mack, will also be present.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Maurice Kelley, Mrs. John S. Mack, Mrs. R.V.C. Whitehead and Mrs. Donald Rugg.

AUXILIARY TO MEET

For Hat Show. Spring hats and accessories from The Betty Wright Shop will be shown to members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Princeton Lions Club when the group meets Monday at 6:30 at the Nassau Inn.

In addition, there will be a White Elephant Sale. Mrs. Arthur Yard has been admitted as a new member to the group.

ALUMNAE TO MEET

Of St. Elizabeth's. "Mental Health" will be the subject of a talk to be given before members of the Trenton chapter, St. Elizabeth College Alumnae Association when it meets Tuesday at 8:30.

The speaker will be Sister Loretta Maria, Sister of Charity, who is chairman of the sociology department of the college, and a member of the New Jersey Association of Mental Health. The meeting will be held in the Meeting Room of the Lakeside Apartments, Faculty Road.

BE PREPARED!

Urges Boy Scouts. A house-to-house "Be Prepared for Accidents" campaign will be launched April 14 by Boy Scout Troop 50 whose members will present Princeton householders with first-aid

When Scout investigators discover inadequately-stocked medicine chests, they will offer to the home-owner a selection of first-aid kits designed for use inside or outside the home.

There will be auto kits, travel kits and kits suitable for hunter or fisherman, all supplied by a national manufacturer of surgical dressings. Profits from the sale of the kits will be used for Scouting activities.

BIRTH LIST

Two Sets of Twins Arrive. Twenty children were born to area residents last week at Princeton Hospital. Among the 12 girls were twins, born to Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Crawley, 2202 C. Harrison Street, on March 28. Parents of twin boys were Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, 56 Harrison Street, on March 31.

Other parents of boys were Mr. and Mrs. James Perry, Box 247, Rocky Hill, March 25; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fiel, 26 Hart Avenue, Hopewell, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger de Garis, 26 Witherspoon Street, both on March 29; Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Keiser, R.D. No. 1, Sunset Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. Marion J. Levy, 102 Russell Road, both on March 30; and Mr. and Mrs. James Truesdale, 237 Sunset Avenue, Hightstown, March 31.

Parents of girls were Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Steele, 15 Mason Drive, March 27; Mr. and Mrs. John Strangue, 223-B Marshall Street, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Paust, 118 Cole Avenue, Hightstown, Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Lepard, 206 Nassau Street, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ascione, 418-B Devereux Avenue, March 28; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kettenberg, Moores Mill Road, Hopewell, and Mr. and Mrs. Kimberly Sparks, 26 North Stanworth Drive, all on March 29; Mr. and Mrs. Fred.

cially made plastic giraffe with white spots on his red head or black ones on yellow. His friend, a bird of undetermined specie, also has an eye-egg on his back. He's bright green.

You may fill a basket with anything from that candy case, of course, including a mint bonbon decorated with a minute yellow chick and a floral garland; a cream bunny; a cream duck (both with a crystalline sugar surface); or those candy dotted beans that look like oval non-pareils.

Both Suzanne de Paris and Cynthia Sweet (her more modest sister) have econon on fruit-filled eggs, and there is an Italian cream egg with yolk.

JUNIORS, UNITE!

If You Wear Size 5. The mere idea of a size five is so incredible to us that we have to think about it twice to make sure, but it does exist, as you size fives know, and at the moment, it is particularly in evidence in a junior collection at The French Shop, 20 Nassau.

Gay Gibson pushes up the three-quarter gathered puff sleeve of a gingham, cut with full skirt and deep U neck. Around the skirt and sleeves are five bands of embroidery, to relieve the austerity of check-by-check.

A full-length tapestry coat in shades of deep, dusty rose and beige, goes over an olive sheath with gathered waist and cap sleeve. The coat has a deep collar, but not deep enough to overpower a small woman.

A pleated arnel skirt, in white, hangs from a bodice and provides the anchorage for a navy and white striped knit top. Over the top goes a navy blazer, spanking and short, with brass buttons.

For spring suit days. The French Shop suggests that juniors buy a navy silk ensemble consisting of a gathered waist dress with white top and navy skirt, and a jacket that has loops of navy all around the edge and sleeves. $24.95.

Buy a French Shop flowered hat to wear with it?

For $29.95, you may have, if you're a junior, a red or olive punchcut suit with pleated skirt, white overblouse and braid-banded cardigan.

For any price between $10.95 and $17.95, you may buy, well, how about an embroidered pastel cotton with short sleeves and gracious skirt? Or Henry Rosenfeld's silky embroidered cotton with circles on the skirt, or a sleeveless dress in turquoise or peach with embroidered—apple blossoms!

We're not throwing bouquets at ourselves, BUT Kauer's Fur Shop* has the loiest in storage facilities on their premises. Call CH 7-2010 for free pick-up.

from "Anything Goes." Planned Parenthood will benefit from the April 28 performance of "Anything Goes" to be given in McCarter Theatre by the P. J. & B. Players.

Tickets at $10 each may be obtained from the chairman of the benefit, Mrs. Carl Reimers, 23 University Place, Princeton. Parenthood reports that $5.50 of the price is tax deductible.

Other members of the Princeton committee for the show are Mrs. Hyman L. Batlle, Jr. and Mrs. Roland T. Ely. Funds raised through the event will help in the work of the Planned Parenthood Clinic, 202 Academy Street, Trenton, a clinic which serves the whole Mercer area.

RODEO PLANS SET

To benefit YMCA Camps, Advance sale of tickets for the First Annual Central New Jersey YMCA Camps Professional Rodeo has begun throughout the Princeton area under the direction of Robert L. Clotworthy, 86 College Road. The Rodeo will be held in Princeton on May 18 and 19.

Tickets sales will be handled by youngsters who will be giving the opportunity to earn various prizes for selling like most tickets. Among the prizes are 50 free weeks at Camp, 900 free Rodeo tickets and five top prizes of a trophy and admission to all three Rodeo events.

One such top prize will be given to this area. Any boy or girl between the ages of 8 and 15 years is eligible to try for the prize. Information on the contest and other phases of the Rodeo may be obtained from the YMCA office.

The top professional performer of the Rodeo will receive a custom-made, hand-tooled saddle with an engraved silver plate on the horn. In making the announcement of the prize, Cozy Kammiller, of the sponsoring Kammiller Buick-Pontiac Company, said that the saddle should prove an additional incentive to attract top Rodeo Cowboy Association members to the Rodeo.

PRINCETONIANS NAMED

To Board of Directors, Dr. Milton G. White was elected vice-president of the 1962 board of directors of the Central New Jersey Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. Several other area residents were named to the board at the annual meeting. They include James A. Arnold, Jr., John F. McAndrew, Mrs. Muriel C. Morgan, Jr., and Mrs. Thomas C. Roberts. Appointed to the Chapter Advisory Committee were the Hon. Robert B. Meyner, honorary chairman, Dr. Harold W. Dodds, Ralph S. Mason, and Douglas E. Stuart. DeWitt Hendee Smith was appointed to the Medical Advisory Board.

DIRECTOR APPOINTED

To Computer Center, Prof. Edward J. McCluskey, Jr., has been appointed director of Princeton University's Computer Center. Dr. McCluskey, an authority in the field of digital information processing systems, is an associate professor

the great new world of the "NASS"

For nearly 200 years the Nassau Inn has grown with the Princeton community. Now—with new and expanded facilities the Nassau Inn approaches another 200 years of growth.

The newest additions to the Nassau Inn are ready to serve you. There is the magnificent new Prince William Room that offers a community ballroom and meeting facility. There is an entirely new kitchen to expand food service. Guests visiting the Nassau Inn this summer may enjoy the new swimming pool and outdoor terrace.

Right now you can dine-out in splendor in the Main Dining Room. Or pick the new Coach Room for less formal meals. And there's always the convivial atmosphere of the Yankee Doodle Tap Room and the Ivy League Cocktail Lounge nearby. Something interesting and exciting is always in store for you at the Nassau Inn.

The new Nassau Inn is for you — come visit it soon.

NEW HAND ON THE FOUNTAIN: The Juggtown Delicatessen is the new name of the luncheonette at 380 Nassau Street, long a fixture of the Juggtown section of Princeton. The luncheonette was purchased by Samuel P. Lisl (left), the Juggtown deli has booths, a counter for refreshment and delicatessen foods. With Mr. Lisl is this picture are "Tony" Haslagis (center), who founded the store and Samuel P. Lisl, its new owner. (Richard Steiner Photo)

BUSINESS In Princeton

NEW "DEL" OPENS

In Juggtown. The old-time Princeton term, "Juggtown," once used to designate the area around Harrison and Nassau Streets because poultry was made there, has been preserved in the name of a new establishment, The Juggtown Delicatessen, now open at 380 Nassau.

Actually, the new delicatessen and eating place is not new. As The Princeton Goody Shop, it has been at 380 Nassau for many years, first under the ownership of its founder, Anaslis (Tony) Haslagis and then under Edward Swinerton, who purchased it from Mr. Haslagis.

The new owner is Samuel P. Lisl, 133 Mountain Avenue. Formerly a member of the Township Police Department, which he served for six years.

SHAREHOLDERS TO MEET

At First National Bank. A special meeting of the shareholders of the First National Bank of Princeton will be held Tuesday at 11 at 90 Nassau Street.

The meeting has been called to ask shareholders for a vote on increasing the capital funds of the bank by selling 2,000 shares at $300 each. Present shareholders would be entitled to buy one share for each three they now hold and a stock dividend would be declared on the same basis.

Also, shareholders will be asked to approve a revision in the pension system now in effect, a system originally inaugurated in 1942.

MARKETING FIRM FORMED

Office in Shopping Center. Market Dynamics Inc., a marketing research organization, has opened its office in the Princeton Shopping Center at North Harrison Street. Walter H. Meyer of Trenton is executive director. He was formerly associated with Opinion Research Corporation, Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample Inc. and R. W. Brunson Associates of New Brunswick.

The new company will engage in research relating to the product, the consumer, advertising and other promotional full-scale studies will be conducted with the aid of a nationwide interviewing service and other services such as preparation of samples, questionnaire design, coding, editing and tabulating.

Probability and area sampling plans are offered by Market Dynamics. Among the types of projects the company is equipped to handle are testing reactions to new and existing products, studies of brand and corporate image, market analysis, tests of packaging effectiveness, distribution analysis, sales evaluation, media audience research and studies of advertising effectiveness.

RINGGOS OFFICE OPENED

By Thompson Realty. Mike Silverman is manager of Thompson Realty's new Huntington County office in Ringoes, which will handle listings of farms, land and old Colonial homes. W. Bryer Thompson IV is president of the firm, located at 195 Nassau Street.

Among the major farm transfers in the past few months was the sale of the Hareld Lenfest farm near the Hareld-Sergeants covered bridge to Chet Hunley, the TV news commentator. Other licensed real estate sales personnel will be on the Ringoes staff in addition to Mr. Silverman.

PRINCETON FIRM NAMED

To Design Building. The new five-story, $11 million building of the New Jersey Education Association in Trenton will be designed by the Princeton architectural firm of Diel and Stein.

The structure will replace two existing buildings on property now owned by the Association across West State Street from the State Capitol, and will contain 35,000 square feet within its 50 by 112-foot area. It is scheduled for completion in the summer of 1965. The NJEA occupying space in the Ewing Shopping Center until that time.

When should you buy Life Insurance?

The best time is when you are young because then annual premiums are low. But many young married men face a dilemma. They decide to postpone the purchase of life insurance till their family situation creates a greater need. However, they find later that premiums are higher and in the meantime, they run the risk of being uninsurable. Here's a sound formula for meeting the problem. It's Manufacturers Life's "Security Graph plus G.I.B." — Security Graph helps avoid costly postponements by setting up a plan for buying insurance according to future needs and ability to pay. G.I.B. is a new policy rider that enables the buyer of a new policy to purchase more insurance at regular rates at specific dates in the future — regardless of changes of health or occupation.

Talk to the Man from Manufacturers Life about this new security formula today.

He Tried Hard. Anyway

Roger Holt, who played his early baseball at Princeton Country Day School, did his best to help the Princeton nine beat Duke Friday in Winter Park, Fla.

The Tigers' center fielder made three hits in four times at bat, including a two-run homer, scored three times, was credited with four runs batted in and two stolen bases. Despite this standout performance, what shapes up as Princeton's weakest pitching staff in more than a decade blew a ten-run lead.

It was a 12-10 final for Duke.

SPORTS

In Princeton

ACTION IN LACROSSE

Two Games Here. One of the state of Maryland's top lacrosse teams will play here Saturday. Johns Hopkins' invariably high-scoring entry in the chase for national honors coming to Princeton for a game on Finney Field. The Bluejays generally muster more of an attack than the Tiger handle, and their superiority since 1936 over Princeton teams is expected to be continued.

Tuesday afternoon will see an unusual exhibition contest between Princeton and a team of touring Australian All-Stars. The men from down under are well above college-age, some of them in their late 20's. They are in the country for an extended series of games against eastern and southern opponents.

Maryland's well-regarded outfit handled Princeton with comparative ease last weekend at College Park. It was a 17-8 final for the Terrapins.

PITCHERS WANTED

As Tigers Lose 4 of 5. After a 12-0 shutout by Rollins in its opening game at Winter Park, Fla., last week, Princeton's baseball team located its best and began to pile up the runs. In the other four games they played, the Tigers averaged eight runs per outing.

Crystal-clear indication of the magnitude of the pitching problem was furnished by the fact that the Princetonians managed to win only one of these games—an 8-6 decision

In the return game with Rollins. Otherwise, they were edged by Amherst, 8-7, and outslugged by Duke, 9-6 and 12-10.

Roger Holt, Captain Jack Whitehouse and second baseman Don Weeden have been providing most of the Tigers' punch. On the mound, however, Teun Sehnolwerth, Paul Lahli, Mike Devine, John Coates, Gerry Skey and Emile Rosenberg have been a few degrees short of sensational. The Tigers' home opener was scheduled for Wednesday of this week on Clarke Field against Seton Hall. New York University will be here Thursday at 4, with Saturday oddly blank.

The team will play Columbia, a leading contender for Eastern League honors, at the Lions' Baker Field next Thursday before entertaining Cornell in the first league game here on Saturday, April 14.

TROUT SEASON TO OPEN Saturday at 8. The trout fishing season will open Saturday morning at 8 in lakes and streams throughout New Jersey. The Fish and Game Division of the State Conservation Department reports that 209,425 trout—mostly of the brook and rainbow types—have been stocked in anticipation of the season.

New Jersey has no restrictions on the size of the trout that may be kept, but imposes a limit of six per angler. Small streams will yield catches of fish ranging from seven to nine inches, medium streams up to ten inches and major streams and lakes will have fish as large as 18 inches.

Vale Football Game on TV

For the third time in its last four trips to New Haven, Princeton's football team will play a regionally televised game next fall. The date is Saturday, November 17.

The Elis apparently have something of a strange hold on Ivy games selected for television, since this will be their fifth appearance on eastern screens in the last six years. Only one game featuring Ivy teams is on TV each season.

Princeton-Yale games were televised from New Haven in 1956 (Yale 42-20) and 1958 (Princeton, 50-14). The Tigers' last TV appearance from Palmer Stadium was with Pennsylvania in 1959 (Penn, 18-0).

OPENER TUESDAY

For Little Tiger Nine. The Princeton High School baseball team will open its 1962 season Tuesday afternoon when it meets Ewing High School on Harris Field, its home diamond. The game will start at 2:45.

Captain Harry Zoll reported that the pitching situation this season is acute. He does not have one pitcher returning with any experience. With five returning left-handers, however, the outlook is much less grim for the eight other positions.

Back again at second base is Jack Walsted. "Jack," said Coach Zoll, "is as good a second baseman as you'll find in Mercer County." Barking up Zoll's comment is Jack's proven ability both as a hitter and fielder.

Other returning veterans include Ted Skaar, third base; Ray Britton and Jim Quinn, outfield; and Dave Lanning, catcher, who will captain the Little Tigers this spring. Britton is a good all-around player and can play practically any position; Quinn will undoubtedly see some action as a pitcher when not patrolling the outfield.

One setback Zoll must overcome is the failure of Hank Schmidt to come out for the team this year. Only a junior, Hank played shortstop last year. Blue and White last year and by the end of the season had developed into a fine player. "He could have been one of the best shortstops in the state if he had stuck with it," said Zoll.

For its first intra-squad competition, Zoll filled his A team with these players: Don Cooper, a sophomore, shortstop; Jim Case, a promising candidate for the mound staff and only a freshman, first base; Walsted, second; and Skaar, third. Greg Siet, another player who will be a member of the pitching staff, left field. Tom Vele, right, and Britton, center; Lanning, catching and Quinn on the mound.

Undoubtedly there will be

some changes in the lineup before the game Tuesday against Ewing. "This only represents nine of the best players I have at the moment," said Zoll, who added there was no telling what he might find in the junior varsity and freshman rosters before the opener.

"You might say that last year's team could be described as one with good pitching and weak everything else. This year we lack the pitching but are stronger in the other positions," reported Zoll. "We're not going to win them all but we'll make it interesting for a lot of teams this year."

BOWLING NOTES

Knights Increase Lead. A ten-point spread now separates the Knights of Columbus (48) and Nini Motors and Princeton Inn (38 apiece) in the A League as bowling enters its final weeks. The Farmers and Yeoman's are tied for fourth at 36 each.

Sportsmen No. 2 (46) closed the gap slightly in the B League, picking up six points while Edwards Jewelers (50) added only two in clinging to first place Walker-Gordon (44) and Sportsmen No. 1 (42) moved ahead of Ivy Inn (40).

In the Industrial League, Tiger Garage (31) took the lead from Para Lab Supply (30), followed by the Reformers with 28. The King Pins (193) hold a commanding lead over Research I (86) and Research II (84) in the ETS League.

Conover Motors (62) took a slim lead over Nassau Del (60) in the Women's League, trailed closely by Amron Homes (57) and Cranbury Bank (56). Nassau Service holds first place in the Women's Industrial League with 65, while Cifelli Electric (60) is second and Deckers Dairy (56) is third.

In the B League, three bowlers registered a 600 series. Sam Sculerati recorded his first (219-233-192-634), while Al Hibbard bowled 211-242-186-641 and Fred Procacini was credited with 169-213-232-614. Bob Reed topped A League members with a 220, while Ed and nobody beats Valiant for value!

VALIANT

It's not the low price that makes Valiant such a big value, it's what Valiant gives you for the price. For example, there's a 101-horsepower engine that's standard. A roomy trunk, torsion bars in place of front springs, an alternator instead of a generator—all are standard. And at Valiant's price, it's the only compact that gives you the options of power steering and 3-speed automatic transmission. To top it all off, Valiant is the style leader of the compacts with its sporty Trim-Line Design. Come in and see for yourself why people are saying Nobody Beats Valiant for Value.

PENNANT PROGNOSTICATORS: Ensnaring in the great American pastime of predicting who will win the major league pennants this year are Fred Cavanaugh, Bing Deacon and Charles Stryker. While picking the Yankees can make one look like an expert, it is the unpredictable National League that underpins most forecasters. The addition of the Houston Colts and the New York Mets to the League only increases the chances of striking out as as a baseball pundit. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Who do you think will win the pennants in the American and National League this year and who do you pick to come in second and third?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Fred Cavanaugh, 50 New Hillcrest Avenue, Trenton, musician, Detroit in the American because it is long overdue. They have the pitching—Frank Lary should win 20 this year—and the hitting. Rocky Colavito should hit 35 home runs and knock in 135. Also, they have some good rookies back in Byron and Wood. For second, it's got to be the Yanks. Baltimore should finish third. In the National League, I'll go with the Los Angeles Dodgers. They're a proven ball club. They've got veterans, good pitching and they've got organization. I pick the Giants second. They're in there every year. They should have won it last year but they had a lot of trouble with disunion on the team. Third in the National? The Cardinals.

Bing Deacon, 120 Longview Drive, morning manager, Ivy Inn, Yankees in the American League. Mainly because I'm a Mantle fan. They have all-around ability in everything. Detroit, second, and Boston, third.

I like the Mets in the National League. I like Stengel, that old grounder, and I like the cast-off team of veterans. Ike Davis has gotten together. Gil Hodges, Neal and the rest. I'd like to see them hook up with the Yankees in the World Series. I pick Cincinnati second. They still have a young team. The same is true for Milwaukee which should finish third. Youth has to be served.

Charles Stryker, 6 Fisher Avenue, musician. The Yankees. One would have to be insane to against them. The Yanks are the best in everything. They have the best pitching, the best hitting, the best fielding. Baltimore, a real good team, second, Detroit, third.

The Cardinals on a hunch to finish first in the National League. I think this might be their year. I'll have to go with the Dodgers for second place. On paper they should take it, but I feel the Cards will get hot and beat them out. The Giants, third.

Charles Peterson, Lawrenceville-Princeton Road, steamfitter, in the American League. I give it to the Senators. I like George Case, their coach; I think he's doing a wonderful job. I think the reason they didn't finish higher last year is they had a lot of bad breaks. The players weren't too well acquainted with one another, either. I feel they will have it done everything out by now. They have two wonderful men in Mickey Vernon, their manager, and Case. I think the Yanks are going to come in second this year and Cleveland, third.

I like the Phillies in the National League this year. They're overdue. It's about time they did something. The Giants to finish second and I pick the Braves to finish third.

Robert Smith, 156 Spruce Street, pool desk manager, Princeton Y.M.C.A. In the American League, I'll have to go with the Yankees. They have the team to beat. They have five or six guys that can bat over .300, for one thing. And they have a lot of reliable pitching in Ford and Arroyo. I think I'll go with Detroit for second place—they have made some changes—and Chicago, third. The White Sox are a fighting, scrapping team and they're always up there.

I think I'll go with the Bums in the National League this year. They got rid of a couple of old timers like Hodges, Craig, and Neal and they've got some good, young blood in their place. St. Louis, second. The Cards have a hustling team. And I'll go with Cincinnati for third. They have pretty much the same team back which won the pennant last year.

Dominic Consiglio, 246 Thropp Avenue, Trenton, steelworker. I'm not a follower of theirs but the Yankees in the American League. They have the best players, the best money players. The Yanks always win the big ones. I like Detroit, second, Cleveland, third.

In the National League it's still Brooklyn for my money, followed by Milwaukee and the Giants. I was out in California recently and that new park of the Dodgers is beautiful. There's no wind problem which the Giants have to contend with, and there's no more short left field and screen to bother them.

Richard Gemberling, 24 Church Street, Kingston, owner of Mobil Service Station: Even without Casey Stengel, who I thought was great, I think the Yanks will win. They had a good ball club. They've got good hitting, fielding, they're the best all-around team I think the White Sox are going to finish second. In the National League, Milwaukee is not only going to win the pennant but I pick them to beat the Yanks in the Series. I think they showed they could come from behind when they beat the Yanks three years ago and I think they can do it again. Brooklyn, second.

George Hulse, Allentown, steelworker. I like Detroit in the American League. I think they have a young ball club that is well-seasoned now. They've just reached their prime and they're ready to go. The Yankees second. That stands to reason. If I didn't pick them to win, they have to be second. I like the White Sox third.

In the National League I still go with Milwaukee. I think they should have finished higher than they have in the past two years. They still have the best pitching in the league. The Giants second on a long shot and Los Angeles, third. I also think the Mets will finish up in the first division, too.

August Deworocki, 256 Jersey Street, Trenton, lineman. I think the Yanks will win in the American League. They have the best team by far. They have the power. Detroit, second and I like Milwaukee third.

In the National League, the Giants because of hitters like —Continued on Page 28

Question Of The Week

Willie Mays. The Giants have a good team. Milwaukee, second, and the Dodgers, third.

Alte Gallop. The Great Road, public opinion research. The Yankees in the American League. How can they miss? Look how well they have been doing in spring training. They are just perennial champions. White Sox, second and then Cleveland.

The Dodgers probably in the National League. I'm going mainly on the basis of the opinion of experts. They know more about it than I do, although they have been saying the Dodgers are going to win for years and they haven't taken it yet. I've never been able to call a pennant winner in the National League yet. The Cardinals second and Cincinnati, third.

interpretation of events differ from that of the newspaper and its staff members. However, we should like to point out that we did not misquote Mrs. Harrie. We said in our story: "Mrs. David T. Harrie, Autumn Hill Road, suggested that Committee investigate the cost of total restraint, which both Lawrence and Montgomery Townships now have. Mayor Fairman said Committee would do this."

From a Dog Owner, 12.

To The Editor of Town Topics:

Why should all the dogs be restricted? In my opinion, only the dogs that are public nuisances should be restricted.

We have a collie who doesn't chase cars, bicycles, etc. She isn't a public nuisance, either. So, why should a large dog like this be unhappily copped up at all times just because of some other dogs?

I see the other side of the issue. Dogs who chase children and chase vehicles are apt to bother many people. But why should the innocent dogs be punished?

I think if a dog is making a constant nuisance of himself, someone should call the Police Department and complain. If this happens more than once, the dog should be restricted.

Dear TRAVELEX,

Good old London with its new skyscrapers soaring twenty-five and thirty stories over its traditionally low roof line. The Queen's guard changing ceremoniously while the band plays all the latest tunes in the forecourt of Buckingham Palace.

Down to the country for a proper British Sunday dinner with good friends in an old castle surrounded by a moat and formal garden complete with clipped hedges and hedges - (re-stuffed after a night jet flight from New York).

Back in town to visit the memorials of Westminster Abbey, some quick shopping at Reid's, a show at the Palladium and late dinner just off Piccadilly Circus.

Time flew by all too quickly before we dashed out the Great West Tunnel to London North Central and a fifty-minute flight to PA - last minute shopping at the airport's Free Port area for cigarettes, whisky, save taxes.

Dick

BE JUST A LITTLE BIT SMARTER

Don't let this lovely old Township farmhouse go to someone else. There is so much to like about it. Its lovely lawns, gardens, trees, huge old box and little greenhouse would be enough. But its many modern features, well located baths, large bright living rooms, its many fireplaces, are additional reasons for its appeal to people of taste. The price, too, $55,000, is very sound value.
